GEN. STEVENSON.

CANDIDATE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT TO BE HERE.

He is Visited at His Bloomington Home by Hon. George P. B. Jackson and Maj. Salmon.

Hon. Geo. P. B. Jackson, who in company with Major Harvey Salmon, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, visited General Adlai E. Stevenson at his home in Bloomington, Illinois, yesterday, returned home this morning highly elated over the success that attended his mission.

Mr. Jackson was seen at his law office by a DEMOCRAT reporter to-day and full details of the visit were obtained from the gentleman. He said:

"A few days ago, on learning that Gen. Stevenson would be at his home, I put myself in communication with Major Salmon with a view to visit the candidate for the vice-presidency and thus in a personal conference urge upon him the importance of visiting Missouri on the occasion of the state rally to be held in Sedalia on the 30th of August. Not only would we, by this means, be enabled to represent things more satisfactorily but we hoped that our presence would add effect to the invitation.

Maj. Salmon was not slow to appreciate this and having agreed to visit the general we accordingly wired him of our intention, advising him as to the time we might be expected.

We reached Bloomington at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and spent an hour with the famous statesman. Our visit proved eminently successful, for General Stevenson consented, unconditionally, to be with us in Sedalia on the 30th."

"Will he visit any other point in this state?"

"No, sir," he told us that it would be out of the question for him to be elsewhere in Missouri than Sedalia, adding that but for the fact that there were thirty-one days in the present month he could not come here. He begins an engagement in Indiana September 1st, two days later, and will speak first at Vincennes. You see it is only by the merest sort of accident that we got him to come at all."

Mr. Jackson said he never met anyone to whom the expression "a man of the people" could be more fittingly applied. "Indeed," said Mr. Jackson, "had it not been that we knew his identity, we would have taken him for a private individual. He is so simple in his manner, so unpretentious, so void of those qualities peculiar to men of his station in life, which are calculated to check approach on the part of the people. Easy of address, modest and unassuming, and possessing plain, every-day courtesy, one feels perfectly at home in his presence. Stevenson is familiar but by no means vulgar," as Shakespeare puts it.

A little incident connected with the visit but goes to show the simplicity of the general's manner of life—the fact of his walking to the depot, unattended, to meet his two guests. Mr. Jackson said that after they had talked about an hour and finished their business, it was learned that they would have about a half hour before train time (they remained at the depot to economize time, having less than two hours to transact their business); whereupon Gen. Stevenson insisted that they visit his law office and meet his partner, which they did.

Returning to the depot a few minutes later preparatory to departing for Chicago, Mr. Jackson said a ludicrous incident illustrative of the man's popularity even among the colored people occurred.

He and Major Salmon were driven back in a carriage by a venerable son of Ham. En route to the station Major Salmon quizzically asked if he was acquainted with General Stevenson—"Lord a mercy, boss"—began the Afro-American driver with native astonishment, "I've known dat ar man fer a life time."

"Well then," continued the major, "illegally concealing his amusement at the darkey's earnestness, 'I suppose you will vote for him, won't you?'"

"Now, you jist hush, boss," rejoined he; "ob co'se I is, and so's all de odder culled men in dese here diggins."

A Next Sun.

The benefit for the Sedalia hospital fund was given last night at the merry-go-round, at Third and Monticau, by the proprietors, Messrs. Henderson and Weant. A large crowd was in constant attendance and the merry-go-round was kept filled and moving until a late hour.

The hospital will receive over $50 as its share of the proceeds.

Special Policeman Ed Thompson kept good order and is to be complimented for doing his duty so well.

CAPTURED IN SEDALIA.

Eva Crow Arrested and to be Taken Back to Chicago For a Big Robbery.

Eva Crow, the handsome mulatto girl, aged about 23 years, who was sent to jail a few days ago for stealing a number of ribbons, laces, etc., from the residence of D. M. Dodge, the mail carrier, is now in a position to serve a term in the Illinois penitentiary.

In answer to a telegram from Marshal DeLong, G. C. Weaver, a Chicago detective, arrived in the city yesterday morning to take the woman back to that city for a robbery committed while she was working in the capacity of a nurse girl for Mrs. Carrie Fisher, living on Michigan avenue.

While Mrs. Fisher was away from home on the 25th of last April, the woman went through her employer's trunk and stole five dress patterns, one dress being already made, one beaver cape and muff, one lady's ulster, ten suits of underclothing, a gold locket and necklace, and a diamond clover leaf breast pin. The articles were valued at about $300. She immediately disappeared and detectives were at once put upon her track, but the last trace of her was lost at Boston, Mass., and the officers gave up the chase and commenced a still hunt.

It was known that while in Chicago she passed as the wife of Dave Carter, for a number of years a pressman in Sedalia. Carter was known to have lately come to Sedalia and Marshal DeLong was notified to be on the look out for the woman and notify the Chicago officers whenever she showed up.

When she was arrested, Marshal DeLong promptly informed the Chicago parties. Sheriff Ellis Smith, by means best known to a detective, succeeded in getting a full confession of the theft from Miss Crow. The articles were located at the house of a relative of the woman at Seventeenth and Lamine. The diamond pin, however, was missing. She is said to be guilty of several other similar escapades in Chicago.

Requisition papers are expected from Illinois and she will be taken back when they are received.

Dave Carter, with whom she was connected in Chicago and Sedalia, is thought to be guilty of any criminal connection with the affair, as he has always borne a good reputation.

Constable Robert Ramsey arrested the woman for the trick turned in Sedalia. Her appearance indicated that she was perhaps a smooth artist and when a DEMOCRAT reporter asked Constable Ramsey if she was wanted anywhere else, he was told to wait as he would perhaps be given some information in a short time that would add another chapter. Marshal DeLong took up the matter and Detective Weaver was warm in his compliments concerning him.

Southerners.

A large number of the Georgia delegation passed through at noon en route home from the Knight Templars conclave at Denver.

They occupied a special car, which was decorated with streamers bearing the name of the town and lodge to which they belonged. The encampment broke up yesterday, to meet in Boston next year. One hundred thousand visitors were in Denver.

Will Be Home Soon.

Capt. T. C. Holland received a letter from Hon. John T. Heard to-day in which that gentleman says he will soon return to his home in this city.

Go to McGowan's pharmacy for soda water made from pure fruit juices.

EVERYTHING READY

THE GREAT MISSOURI STATE FAIR NEXT WEEK.

Sedalia Now Prepared to Receive the Countless Visitors—The Greatest Event in the State.

A DEMOCRAT reporter made a final visit to the kite track and the fair grounds this morning to see how matter stood for the successful opening of the fair next week.

Three hundred men were found hard at work putting on the finishing touches. The immense grandstand with its seating capacity of 5,000, stood ready to receive the countless throng that will tax its utmost capacity during the coming week. The great track spread like a floor throughout what is claimed by experienced men to be the fastest mile in the world. Around the curve at the west end, a high fence, white washed until it gleamed like snow, threw the many horses into bold relief and reduced to a minimum the effort to see each movement of jockey and steed as they passed on in the grand rush for the wire.

Immediately in front stood the starter's stand, a gaily decorated and substantial structure, which will be occupied by the veteran horseman, Mayor E. W. Stevens, who has become widely and favorably known in this responsible capacity to Sedalia fair goers for many years. A large and unusually fine-toned bell, new from the factory, is now in position for his use. Just across the track is the judges' stand, large, commodious, and arranged to be a most pleasant place for those who shall sit in it. Hon. Norman J. Colman, of St. Louis, and Congressman Walter D. Hayes, of Clinton, Iowa, two of the best informed horsemen in the United States, together with some gentleman who will be selected next week, have agreed to act as judges.

Col. J. L. Thornton, the omnipresent and indefatigable press agent of the association, is having erected at the south end of the finish wire a most desirable and convenient building for the press headquarters. It will have a capacity for about 100 men and is well supplied with chairs and tables and the various other things that the newspaper men are supposed to use. In its rear is a dark room arranged for keeping the negatives of a photographer who will make instantaneous views as the horses finish in each race, thereby settling beyond a doubt the winning horse. Arrangements are being made with the Western Union Telegraph Co., for a wire to this point where a competent operator will be placed.

A figure of the kite track with the word "press," handsomely inscribed in the center will make appropriate badges for the newspaper men. M. G. Ingram, the Ohio street job printer, is doing the work free as a compliment to the press of Central Missouri.

Under the grand stand are the many booths erected to supply the cravings of the inner man. There are still quite a number of desirable booths unsold and the list will remain open at the office of Secretary A. L. Burr, on Ohio street, until Monday afternoon.

At the west end of the grand stand are the ladies' toilet rooms, supplied with mirrors, chairs, and everything that may be needed by the fair sex. Under the old amphitheatre are the gentlemen's lavatories.

The betting paddock is completed and the book making will be done by Wagner & War, of Dayton, Ohio. The mutuals will be sold by C. D. Robbins & Bro., of Decatur, Illinois.

The exhibit halls have been put in shape and a number of exhibitors are placing their products in position to-day. The large art hall will be used for the ladies', the art and the agricultural department. The old horticultural building will contain the fruit display.

The racing stables deserve unusual mention. There are stalls sufficient to accommodate 400 horses. There are now actually 325 horses on the grounds and between 175 and 200 more are expected to-night and to-morrow. This more than fills the stables, and quarters have been secured in the city livery stables accordingly. It is proposed, however, that simply the show horses be brought down town. To one unaccustomed to racing, the stables are a great sight. Texas, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Kentucky, Illinois, and other states have sent their best flyers.

The stock pens have already commenced to fill up and it is a certainty that some of the finest stock ever seen in the country will be on exhibition. A large herd of Jerseys, the property of the Topeka Live Stock Co., are now here. A fine herd of Shorthorns are expected to arrive this afternoon from one of the largest and most famous farms in Kentucky. C. S. Williams, of Jerseyville, Ill., is also due with a fine lot of Herefords.

No city in the country has better transportation than Sedalia will have to the park. This highly gratifying fact is owing solely to the continued efforts of Judge D. C. Metsker and his able superintendent, Chas. Carroll. They have taken advantage of every opportunity to complete the electric street railway as soon as possible, and they should be given an ovation when it is known that the belt line to the park was completed at about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The management of the road estimate that 1,000 people can be carried to the park every 20 minutes. Judge Metsker is the right man in the right place and has established a reputation in Sedalia that will ever make him known as one of Sedalia's greatest benefactors.

The hotels of the city are fully prepared to take care of the rush and many private rooms have been engaged in case of an emergency. The price of admission to the park will be the same as last year. On Monday will be children's day, at which time they will be admitted free of charge.

Many prominent men will be here by special invitation. Governor Francis has signified his intention of coming.

The street illumination will be elaborate and extensive. A glance

A NEW ROAD.

SEDALIA TO HAVE AN OUTLET NORTH AND SOUTH.

The Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall and Northern Submits Propositions—New Directors.

The project for a north and south railroad contemplates a trunk line from the Lakes to the Gulf, and the Springfield, Sedalia, Marshall & Northern, is a most important link in the chain.

Capitalists of Sedalia, Springfield, Marshall and Miami have for months been working at the enterprise. They had a survey made which showed that the road could be constructed at a moderate cost and that the resources of the country through which it passed would make it a paying line from the start.

Col. O. A. Crandall, the president of the proposed road, in company with others who are interested, visited Springfield Thursday, having become convinced that the time to begin active operations had arrived.

A mass-meeting was held in Springfield last night at which Col. Crandall and others explained the plans and purposes of the company and the great advantage the road would be to Springfield.

Col. Crandall returned to his home in this city to-day and was seen by a DEMOCRAT, reporter this afternoon.

"At the meeting held last night," said Col. Crandall, a proposition was agreed upon by the board to construct the road from Miami to Springfield provided the people along the road grant the right-of-way and raise $280,000, distributed among the several counties as follows:

Green county, $100,000; Dallas, at our thoroughfares is self explanatory of what may be expected. On Friday night, the Sedalia flambeau club will give one of their famous fireworks displays. This in itself is well worth a visit to Sedalia.

The racing for Monday is as follows:

MONDAY.
1. 2:27 trot.....Purse $1,000.
2. Yearling trot.....Stake 500.
3. 2:35 pace.....Purse 500.

This notice would not be complete without mention of Secretary A. L. Burr and Col. J. L. Thornton, the press agent, to whom the success of the undertaking is largely due. Both are gentlemen of wide experience, and able management. The present success is the best possible evidence of their respective merits. Mr. Burr is a young man who has carried the whole load upon his shoulders, but Sedalia is sure to remember him.

Reserved Seats.

Messrs. Collins and Farnham received and delivered 500 chairs to the Fair association to-day. The chairs are a fine lot and will greatly add to the looks of the grand stand and the comfort of the occupants.

Two Prizes Offered.

Messrs. Henderson & Weant, proprietors of the merry-go-round, corner Third and Monticau streets, offer two elegant prizes to the most graceful lady rider to-night.

COUNTY DEMOCRACY.

Meetings for the Purpose of Organizing Clubs to be Held.

This evening is the time set for the meetings of the county democracy, to be held for the purpose of forming clubs for participation in the Sedalia rally.

Smithton, Houstonia, Hughesville, Lamonte and Georgetown are some of the places designated for holding meetings. Addresses will be made by Messrs. Yeater, Longan, Steele, Cashman, Kennedy and others.

Liberal gatherings are promised at each of these places.

Complimentary Party.

A pleasant lawn party is to be given at Sealover's lawn, Monday, August 15, 1892, in honor of Miss Allie Englander, of St. Louis, by Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bapple; company to meet at the residence, 1300 East Fourth street, at 8 o'clock sharp. Miss Englander is a most charming young lady and is much admired for her many amiable qualities. Mr. and Mrs. Bapple are famous as entertainers and a most enjoyable evening can be expected.

Died at Nevada.

Mrs. Fannie A. Hudson, wife of Mr. D. Hudson, living in the Beaman neighborhood, died at Nevada yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The husband accompanied the remains to Sedalia this morning. Mrs. Hudson had been confined in the asylum at Nevada since December last.

The funeral will take place to-morrow.

SHE READS

The EVENING DEMOCRAT.

"I would earnestly advise them for their good to order this paper to be punctually served up and to be looked upon as a part of the tea equipage."—ADDISON.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Patrons of the EVENING DEMOCRAT will confer a favor upon the management by promptly reporting any irregularity in delivery or bad condition of paper from improper handling.

SEDALIA must have a convention hall.

A TARIFF is a tax and a tax is a burden.

The building boom in Sedalia has kept right along and the business boom is not far behind.

No GOVERNMENT has the moral right to tax one class of citizens in order to enrich another class.

MAJOR WARNER'S lamentations will avail him nothing. Missouri cannot be won by misrepresentation.

The force bill and the protective tariff system are twin evils and both are out of place in a free government.

THE DEMOCRAT would urge the rigid enforcement of all laws bearing upon the sanitary condition of the city.

The next vice-president of the United States will be with us on the 30th in the person of Gen. Stevenson.

In spite of an unfavorable season and scarcity of money, Sedalia business men report an increase in trade over last year.

JUDGE METSKER will have his Third Street line in operation and there will be no trouble in getting to and from the fair grounds.

The republican managers are colonizing southern negroes in Illinois and other doubtful states. There are not enough negroes in the south, however, to make good the republican losses in the north.

IN an article, which we copy from the St. Louis Republic, Col. Henry Strother makes some suggestions worthy of consideration by every progressive citizen of Missouri. What he says of the good work already done by the horticultural society is true, as is also his suggestion of what might be done with a more liberal appropriation from the state. Missouri ranks high already as a fruit growing state, and interest in the subject will grow with the increase in population and the growth of towns and cities. Col. Strother's article is worthy of a place in every newspaper in the state, and his suggestions should receive the attention of the members of the next general assembly.

THE NORMILE SUICIDE.

The state was shocked yesterday by the news of the suicide of Judge J. C. Normile, of St. Louis, says the Columbia Herald. In a note found after his death the well-known criminal judge gave as a reason for his self-murder that he had been hounded to death by the malicious publications of the Post-Dispatch. "The atrocious libellers of that paper," he wrote, made life for him "a protracted torture." He was a very sensitive man and the criticisms that he encountered made "suicide or the murder of the editor" the only alternatives. He could not abide the law's delay to vindicate himself. The libel suit which he had filed hung fire too long. After making these statements Judge Normile ended his life by taking poison.

There are occasions in the history of every newspaper when it becomes its duty to condemn wrong-doing and inefficiency in public place. Its obligation to its readers, who are its clients, requires that this condemnation should be fearless and unsparing. It fails in its duty when it weakens or permits fear of personal consequences to itself or others to deter it from such public exposure and criticism of public characters.

But equally is a newspaper recreant to its duty when it descends to personal detraction or abuse. It transgresses proper limits when it uses its columns to gratify personal malice, envy or ill-will. No private grievances should have place in public journals.

The course for an innocent, high-minded, sensitive man to pursue when he is attacked and vilified by cowardly newspapers that here and there disgrace journalism is not clear. Did Normile or Slayback act the wiser? The law, with its delays and technicalities, furnishes no relief. What balm can money damages afford to wounded reputation? Murder is a crime to be shrunk from, however great the provocation. Suicide is self-murder and indefensible. Uncomplaining silence the unthinking often interpret as confessed cowardice or admitted guilt. Must the hounded citizen shoot or submit?

The power of the press has grown so rapidly in the last few years that no code to govern its relations to the public has gained general support. But this much is certain, without reference to the cause of the Normile tragedy, the justification of the Post-Dispatch, or the sad suicide, personal journalism needs to be everywhere and always rebuked.

The public that tolerates the personal journalist is largely responsible for his existence. The journalistic profession suffers on his account, however, and will gladly join any just movement to rid the world of his crime-provoking presence.

THE democracy of the county should tie ropes to Willie Steele.—Sentinel.

The republicans will have to do that if they expect to hold him back long enough for his opponent to catch up with him in the race for prosecuting attorney.

THE great big rally takes place in Sedalia on August 30th, and thousands of loyal Missourians who are proud of their state will be here to see it.

IT will be interesting to contrast Hon. W. J. Stone's speech in this city on August 30th with William Warner's lamentations read here on the 27th of July.

MISSOURI republican campaign managers should learn a lesson from the experience of the Kansas rain-makers. There is no use for man to attempt the impossible.

JUDGE GRESHAM is not the only ex-republican leader who will compete for the honor of taking Ben Harrison's scalp.

THE democrats of Missouri are invited to meet the next vice-president and the next governor in Sedalia on August 30th.

MR. GEORGE P. B. JACKSON did a good day's work yesterday in securing a positive promise from Gen. Stevenson to attend the rally here on the 30th. In this Mr. Jackson has done a great deal to make the rally a success.

OVER at Miami, in Saline county, four former republicans have joined the democratic club. That makes it pretty near unanimous.

Licked The Dummy.

From the Fayette Advertiser.
An amusing incident took place at the merry-go-round last Saturday night. A negro dummy, dressed in gorgeous style, was shipped with the outfit to be attached to the organ and made to appear as grinding out the music. The proprietors decided not to use the dummy, and set it aside. But it wasn't put out of danger, for along came a young man who had swallowed so many "soldiers" that he felt as though he could "lick" a whole regiment. Running against the dummy, which he mistook for a real live negro, he at once demanded an apology, (?) but failing to receive a response, he jumped into the "cocon" and had begun to pulverize it in great shape, when the proprietor happened round. He gazed upon the work of demolition a moment, then let drive with his right hand and pasted the drunken fellow a stinger under the neck which sent him about ten feet outside the ropes. This sobered up the pugilist and he, thinking his victim had gotten up and let him have one, beat a hasty retreat. He evidently thought "the colored troops fought nobly." The dummy will hardly make a presentable appearance.

The Vocal Power of the Parrot.

R. I. Garner.
The parrot is perhaps possessed of the greatest vocal power of any other bird. He imitates almost the entire range of sounds that are uttered by all other birds combined, and can also imitate the sounds of human speech from the highest to the lowest pitch of the human voice. In addition to all this he imitates many noises such as the sounds of sawing wood, the slam of the door and the whistling of the winds. One strange thing, however, that I observed among them: that the range of sounds that they use among themselves is very small. I have made some records of parrots, macaws, cockatoos, etc., and I find their natural vocal sounds usually wanting in quality.

To Summer Tourists.

The season is at hand when the man of affairs, the man who, through the long winter months, has devoted his best energies to the tasks and problems of the counting room, the office, the pulpit, or legislative halls; when the matron and the maid, wearied of the long season of social gaiety or confinement in the school or lecture room, betake themselves to the sea shore, the mountains, the country or the springs, in search of pleasure and rest. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway has placed on sale summer tourist tickets at very low rates, with long transit limits, good to return until October 1st or 15th. Every variety of amusements and the most picturesque of surroundings are thus placed within the reach of all.

FRUIT GROWING.

HOW IT MAY BE ENCOURAGED IN MISSOURI.

A Sedalian Advances Some Ideas on This Subject Worthy of Consideration.

From the Republic.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 6.—The thirty-fourth annual report of the State Horticultural society of Missouri has been received, and, like the eight preceding reports edited by Mr. L. A. Goodman, of Westport, Mo., secretary of this society, is of extreme value to the fruit-growers and farmers generally of this state, and should be carefully studied by them and then placed in their libraries and zealously guarded for future reference and for the benefit of their children. Great would be the results if the people of our state would only study these reports and plant and care for their orchards and fruits as therein directed and advised. The State Horticultural society is composed of not only the best men in Missouri, but also of the best posted, most scientific and most successful horticulturists in the west. They are men who prepare themselves for their profession by hard and close study and research just as the successful lawyer, doctor, preacher, artist and scientists do, but wholly unlike these professions, the great big, hearted, brainy successful fruitgrowers give their knowledge, experience and advice to all freely. On this I will quote a few lines from Secretary Goodman (Thirty-fourth Hort. Rep., p. 110): "How many of us give out facts of our profession which have cost us months of labor and many dollars of money to prove for the mere asking. Can you point to any other profession which will begin to do as we do? The other day a certain lawyer in Kansas City asked me questions about planting an orchard which were worth thousands of dollars to him and yet he never once thought of paying for any of it. The same lawyer charged me $5 for writing a contract."

The members of this society are not only giving so much away, but they are the most unselfish men in the world, for they beseech their neighbors, friends and foes, and beg of the entire agricultural population of the state to plant more trees, more apple trees and fruit trees of all kinds. This has been the constant theme of this society since its organization in 1859. That veteran horticulturist, Norman J. Colman, is the father of this society, and he still takes a lively interest in its welfare. To enumerate the benefits of this society to the state at large, and give the names of the prominent horticulturists who have been its leading members, and show the results of their work, would require a volume.

When it is considered that the value of the fruit crop of the state has steadily increased year by year from a very insignificant amount in 1859 to the enormous sum of over $10,000,000 in 1890, and nearly $20,000,000 in 1891, and the business has grown from the embryo state to full-grown, full-fledged science—a learned profession—all the direct results of the labors of this society, should not everyone who has the best interests of his state at heart do everything in his power to help the good work along?

The crop of this year will not exceed one-half that sum. Why this great falling off? Those who are not deep learned in this science say the climate or season is entirely responsible for this loss of $10,000,000 to our state in one year, but those at the top of the profession know better—they know the secret of success in most seasons, and are constantly studying and experimenting to learn how to overcome the most extreme climatic influences, and the bad seasons, and will one day be masters of the situation, and, with the exception of the most extreme seasons, be able to produce each year a regular even crop of the choicest fruits.

The annual destruction by insects and fungi of the fruits of the state reaches from 25 to 50 per cent of the entire crop. The ordinary farmer who is not thoroughly posted in these matters receives from one-acre apple orchard from nothing to $100 per year, while the enlightened, wide-awake horticulturist receives from his acre from $100 to $500 per year. The same is true of other fruits, and the want of success from lack of knowledge causes a loss to the state of millions of dollars annually. How can this be remedied? I offer the following suggestions to the careful consideration of all Missourians:

Have the state annually place to the credit of the state horticultural society the sum of $10,000, the society to employ a good man and require him to go into each county of the state and organize horticultural societies, hold institutes and meetings and instruct the people in the art of horticulture and teach them the true science of fruit-growing. The secretary should issue bulletins to the farmers and members of all horticultural societies in the state, giving them fresh instructions, new remedies and discoveries just at the time they most need it. The present plan of issuing only the annual reports, while of wonderful benefit, is entirely too slow. By the present slow process of the state printing office these reports are not printed in time to be of great benefit until the second year after the discoveries, remedies, advice, etc., therein treated were made. I would not for one moment think of doing away with these annual reports, but I would put them in the hands of printers who could get them out by the first of March of each year. Instead of 3,500 copies, as now published, I would have at least 10,000, all bound in cloth. In this itinerant work give the secretary one or more assistants, one of whom should be an entomologist, who should furnish the secretary with entomological notes for the bulletins, and an annual report to be published in the annual reports of the Horticultural society, and also in the annual reports of the state board of agriculture. The cash income of the Horticultural society from membership fees, and the surplus, if any, of the state appropriation might be used by the society for premiums at their annual and semi-annual meetings and state fairs. Space forbids further detail—now for results. Keep this work up, and at the end of ten years the annual fruit crop of this state will be $50,000,000 instead of $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, as at present. The outlay by the state of $10,000 per annum would amount to $100,000 in 10 years, and the net income for the tenth year would be at least $30,000,000, and for the 10 years could be safely put at $100,000,000. How long would you have to talk to a business man to get him to invest $100,000 and receive in return $100,000,000?

This is not all! The benefits of this work would not stop here, but go on blessing the generations to come until the "wreck of nations and crash of worlds." This is not fancy or a idle dream, but sober facts. How shall this appropriation be gotten? By the horticulturists turning their special attention to the members of the legislature in a systematic way; by those in each county holding stated meetings and having a standing committee whose duty shall be to escort the representative and senator to each of these meetings, and then enlighten and educate these lawmakers by showing them what the society has done in its cramped and crippled condition. Show them its needs and the great and lasting benefits to be received in return for the small allowance of $10,000 per annum. Loan them the last three or half dozen copies of the reports of the society, and ask them to first read and reread each one of Secretary Goodman's reports, next the discussions, resolutions and able articles contained therein, in the order named. Then get them to join the society and promise to vote for the appropriation of $10,000 as above set forth. Write articles to your country papers on this subject and get them to publish choice articles from the annual reports bearing on the subject. By a united and systematic effort on this line, in the language of Sam Jones, you will "get there."

Members of the horticultural society of Missouri, this is the way to get the appropriation, and farmers and citizens of Missouri, it will be the best investment you ever made, and will put grand old Missouri where she should be, the first fruit state in the union.

The Great Minstrels.

Although the palmy days of negro minstrelsy have passed, the public still have a liking for what Mr. Lawrence Hutton in his "Curiosities of the American Stage" says is "the only branch of the dramatic art, if properly it can claim to be an art at all, which has had its origin in this country, while the melody it has inspired is certainly our only approach to a national music." Among the remnants of minstrelsy, Primrose & West's company is the best. They come to the opera house, Monday, Aug. 15.

Spoooner Comedy Company.

On next Tuesday evening the Spoooner comedy company will open at Wood's opera house for five nights, in a repertoire of standard comedies and dramas, written especially for this company by J. A. Spoooner, who interprets the character of Silas Grit, a Yankee bounty jumper. During the performance the two little stars, Miss Edna May and little Cecil Spoooner, will introduce a number of the latest specialties.

LIZZIE BORDEN.

The Woman Committed For Trial Without Bail.

THE DEADLY INSTRUMENT FOUND.

A Peculiar Hatchet With Which Lizzie's Father and Stepmother Were Brained—Lizzie's Stories Not Verified.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 13.—Lizzie Borden was arraigned in the Second district court before Judge J. C. Blaisdell, charged with the killing of her father and stepmother. The court room was crowded to suffocation, although Miss Borden's friends at court were very few in number.

After argument Miss Borden was committed without bail.

The police are in possession of a peculiar hatchet, and the rumor that this particular hatchet was used is greatly strengthened by the strong wording of City Marshal Hilliard's complaint. No hatchet like the one in custody can be found in the local hardware stores. Its greatest peculiarity is a claw on the side of the head nearest the handle. The handle is about two and a half feet long and the top of the head is about one and a half by four inches. It is said that the head of the hatchet fits into the numerous wounds in Mrs. Borden's head. The blade of the implement is represented as being very thin and very sharp, measuring about five and a half inches in the widest part. It is what is known among farmers as an old-fashioned thrash wood hatchet, except for the strange claw.

When the police authorities were asked if such a hatchet was in their custody they would neither admit nor deny it. The matter, with all other evidence, is now in control of District Attorney Knowlton. The connection of the hatchet with a bloody deed of some kind is almost beyond doubt, as spots of blood have been found on the blade and handle. Certain cloths covered with blood found in the cellar where the hatchet was found are said to have an important bearing on this part of the case.

Last night Marshal Hilliard said that there was a great deal yet to be proven before the crime could be finally fastened upon Miss Borden. Much had been learned, but for all that he could see the trial would be long and tedious.

Medical Examiner Dolan says that a great deal will depend upon the accuracy of the medical examination of the body and the analysis of the parts sent to Boston.

Last night affairs were quieter in police circles than for many days. There is the report of an unsuccessful search made in the Chase Mill woods pond which according to the statement of a man named Ward contained evidences of the crime. Officers Doherty and Harrington found nothing suspicious there.

Although the authorities refuse to make public their discoveries they are believed to have secured damaging evidence against the woman under arrest. She has told two or three different stories, one of which is to the effect that at a few minutes past 11 o'clock on the morning of the murders she went to the barn and climbed into the loft to get a piece of lead from a coil of lead pipe for a sinker. A detective, who climbed into the loft, found the floor covered with dust which retained impression of his feet. There were no other footprints on the floor. Moreover the coil of lead pipe was found between the house and the barn and a mechanic who examined it declared that it had not been cut for two months.

Medical Examiner Dolan says that Mrs. Borden was killed an hour before her husband, a fact which shows that the murderer must have remained in the house for some time. It happens also that at the time Mr. Borden was killed the house was surrounded by persons on all sides. Patrick McGowan was in the rear picking pears. Mrs. Chase was on the south side and saw McGowan, who in turn saw her. A young French boy was in the street, and Mrs. Buffinton was on the north side of the house, where the entrance alleged to have been used by the murderer. John Dinnie, a laborer, was at work in the yard adjoining the Borden property and was within thirty feet of McGowan. None of these persons saw anybody either enter or leave the house.

When Lizzie Borden found the body of her father she called Bridget Sullivan, the domestic, instead of her stepmother. She explained afterward that the reason she did not call the latter was because she had been summoned by a note to the bedside of a sick friend earlier in the morning, and she supposed her still absent. No such note has been found, nor has the boy whom Lizzie Borden said delivered it made himself known. Moreover, none of the murdered woman's friends was sick.

When Bridget Sullivan was examined she broke down so completely that the investigation had to be adjourned until she could compose herself. She said to the officer who accompanied her to the police headquarters: "The murderer ought to clear me." When she was asked later what she meant she broke down and was unable to go on.

A motive for the crime was furnished by an official of one of the Fall River banks, who says that he knows that Mr. Borden was preparing to make a will and apportion his estate. He had gone so far, says this official, as to take a number of shares of stock in the Duffee Safe Deposit Co. and in the Union National bank and prepare to divide it between his wife and daughters on the ratio of twenty shares for his wife and one for each of his daughters.

THIRD CLASS CITIES.

An Interesting Meeting at Moberly, Mo.—The Subjects Touched Upon.

MOBERLY, Mo., Aug. 13.—According previous arrangements representative men from many of the third-class cities met in convention, in Odd Fellows' hall, to discuss points of interest pertaining to cities of that class. Mayor Ragsdale called the convention to order and explained briefly the purposes for which it was called. Mayor Black, of Clinton, Mo., was elected permanent chairman, and City Clerk G. W. Hackney, of Springfield, Mo., and Clerk J. R. Ruckner, of this city, were chosen secretaries. The session was entirely taken up in the discussion of things necessary for the welfare of this special class of cities of the state, and devising adequate and pertinent means of correcting deficiencies, etc. The discussions were deeply interesting. The government of third-class cities was discussed at length by the different delegates. The sidewalk question was one of the most important touched upon. The law governing the city assessor was condemned as inadequate, and the saloon license and financial affairs of cities of the third class were brought up and discussed. The matter of granting street car franchises was also touched upon.

RAIDED BY POLICE.

Fakirs Running an Institution in St. Louis Put Under Arrest.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—"The St. Louis public Stock Exchange," an institution with other branches at Kansas City, Denver and Chicago, pretending to deal in mining and railroad stocks and grain, using fictitious names and quotations, was raided by the police and the individuals in charge of the mining department placed under arrest, the others not being interfered with.

The arrests were made under section 3,336 of the revised statutes of Missouri, which provides that it shall be unlawful for any corporation, association, co-partnership or person to keep in this state any office wherein is conducted or permitted the pretended buying or selling of shares of stocks or bonds of any corporation, without any intention of receiving or paying for the property so sold, or of delivering the property so sold. The men arrested were admitted to bail.

A DOUBLE SUICIDE.

The Sudden Deaths of Two Sisters After a Buggy Accident Due Really to Suicide.

FAIRMONT, Neb., Aug. 13.—It now appears that Misses Bertha and Lizzie Shultz, who fell from a buggy, Wednesday, and fell dead a short time afterwards in their home, were not killed by the fall, but committed suicide.

County Attorney Sloan came here from Geneva yesterday and began a quiet investigation. He visited every drug store in town, but each proprietor emphatically denied having sold the girls poison. He then began a search of the druggists' registers. On that of Woodruff was found the following entry: "Bertha Shultz (for H. S.) strychnine, one-eighth ounce, rats and mice."

The bottle containing the poison was found in the Shultz yard. The label was scratched off. Physicians estimate that the bottle contained enough poison to kill 120 men.

An effort will now be made to find some cause for suicide, but the investigators are wholly in the dark.

Gladstone's Ministry.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Mr. Gladstone will go to Osborne house on Monday with a complete list of the new cabinet to submit to the queen, but in pursuance of constitutional usage, he maintains absolute silence on the proposed appointments. It has been impossible to conceal the arrangements made for Sir William Vernon Harcourt at the chequer and for Sir John Morley as Irish secretary, but Mr. Gladstone's intentions regarding other ministers are not known, even to some definitely appointed members of his ministry. Being a punctilious observer of official precedent, he will not formally offer a place to anyone until he has actually received the queen's commands to form a ministry.

A Strike at Cramp's Shipyard.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—Forty boilermakers employed in the boilermaking department at Cramp's shipyard, this city, have struck because of the employment of a non-union man in the department. Members of the shipbuilding firm of Cramps' said that thirty-eight of the striking riveters and boilermakers had been paid off and discharged and that many of their places were filled. The non-union man, to whose employment they objected, is still at work. The firm will employ individually any of the discharged union men who apply for work when vacancies exist.

DUN'S REPORT.

Crops Not Quite Up to Expectations at Present.

IMPORTS CONTINUE EXTRAORDINARY.

If Exports Do Not Increase the Outflow of Gold Will Not Stop—General Merchandise Trade Satisfactory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Crop reports are not quite up to expectations, and are construed as indicating a deficient supply of corn and oats, while a possible deficiency in wheat and cotton will be more than met by surplus stocks. But prices have advanced quite sharply, and exports of domestic products will fall below last week's prices. Great industries are all doing remarkably well, excepting the iron manufacture. The iron output August 1 was 155,136 tons weekly, against 159,151 July 1 and 169,576 a year ago, but the stocks undressed, nevertheless, increased 16,000 tons during the month of July, and on August 1 exceeded 1,000,000 tons. Southern pig iron is pressed for sale, and some quotations are lower than ever. The resumption of manufacture by western iron works, which have settled their controversies with the men, will make a great change in the situation, at once increasing the output of pig iron. Manufactured iron and steel have been in very active demand, nearly all the works in operation being crowded with orders. Steel rails are dull as ever and while only 700,000 tons have been sold for the year thus far the orders on hand will hardly carry eastern mills beyond September 15. Copper is weak at 11 1/2 cents and lead at 4 cents, but speculation advanced tin to 21.15 and depressed it to 20.45 cents. There is no market worth mentioning for coal. In the textile industries the utmost activity prevails. Manufacturers are buying wool freely. Boot and shoe factories are still pressed to the utmost.

The particular feature of the week has been the rise in breadstuffs, 1 cent in corn and three-eighths of a cent in oats, while wheat declined three-quarters of a cent with sales of only 13,000,000 bushels. Western receipts were 4,930,000 bushels. Pork advanced 75 cents per barrel, but lard declined a half cent; oil rose 5 cents and coffee a quarter, but cotton fell an eighth, though exports are larger than a year ago, as crop reports grow more favorable. It should not be forgotten that if exports of products which for two weeks have been 7.56 lower at New York than last year, should be restricted to advances in price, the outflow of gold would be likely to continue and before long to affect speculative markets. Imports continue extraordinarily large at New York for five weeks, 30 per cent greater than last year, and such a movement would insure further gold exports unless other conditions change.

Boston reports money stronger with increased demand. Trade in dry goods is rendered larger than usual by the liberal western orders, particularly in women's dress goods. At Cincinnati manufacturers of women's shoes report a very prosperous season with trade 10 per cent greater than last year, and at Cleveland business is fairly active in all principal lines.

Chicago reports sales greater than a year ago and receipts of hides, oats and barley show some increase; of flour and cured meats 50 per cent, and of lard a threefold increase, while some decrease appears in wool, cattle and rye, a third in wheat and corn and 50 per cent in dressed beef.

Collections are satisfactory throughout the west. At St. Paul threshing reports promise an average yield and at Minneapolis business is excellent in all lines, especially in lumber. Trade is very heavy at Omaha and collections never better. Improving at Kansas City, with money in better demand and very good at Denver. At St. Louis trade is of fair volume, labor troubles have settled and collections are more prompt than usual.

Southern reports show general improvement in trade at Little Rock, at Memphis, at Montgomery and at New Orleans, but Galveston collections are slow and at Savannah money is reported tight.

Iowa Indians Take a Crazy Fit and Desert Their Allotments.

GUTHRIE, Ok., Aug. 13.—The Iowa Indians have deserted their allotments in the reservation east of here and gone to join the Otoe tribe in a grand ghost dance on the Cherokee strip. They declare they will never return to their allotments but will live with the Otoes, who are their distant relatives.

Fine houses, growing crops, live stock, farm machinery and everything else has been abandoned. The migration was caused by one member of the tribe claiming to have received a message from the Messiah telling him if his people continued to live in the manner of the whites and neglect their religious dances longer they would not be recognized among the faithful Indians when the Messiah came soon to gather them together.

Decided in Favor of the Packers.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 13.—The celebrated suit of Charles Willoughby against the Chicago Junction railway and Union Stockyards Co., and the Union Stockyards and Transit Co., of Chicago, Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co., and other concerns dealing in dressed beef, which was begun before Vice Chancellors Van Fleet and Green in this city on March 2, has been practically decided in favor of the defendants.

Souvenir Coins in Big Demand.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The prize offer for the souvenir coins was received yesterday by Acting President Higginbotham. F. Horton of Chicago proposed to buy the 5,000,000 fifty-cent pieces and pay therefor $7,500,000.

AN UGLY FEELING.

The Case of a Negro Charged With Outrage Excites Whites and Blacks at Tonganoxie.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 13.—During the past two days great excitement has prevailed at Tonganoxie, a village of this county, twenty miles west of Leavenworth, and there has been imminent danger of a race war.

Noah Ashby, a negro, was taken from the jail here on Wednesday to have a hearing before a justice of the peace in Tonganoxie on the charge of committing a criminal assault upon Ada Wamer, a young white girl, who was dragged from her horse July 27 and outraged by a negro.

The evidence against Ashby was very strong and the indignation of the white people became so great that there was loud talk of lynching. The negroes did not accept the theory that Ashby was guilty, however, and 500 of them well armed gathered to protect him. A large number of the whites also armed themselves and for a time it looked like war.

The Columbus Naval Display.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Under the act of congress authorizing the president to invite foreign naval powers to participate in the naval review to be held in New York harbor next April, the state department has issued invitations in the name of the president to the naval powers of the world. The navy department will soon take up the plan of the proposed review and begin preparations to make the rendezvous the most imposing the country has ever witnessed.

Death of Chinch Bugs.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Aug. 13.—The field agent of the chinch bug station has just returned from a four weeks' trip in Marion, Lyon, McPherson and other counties in that vicinity. The work of killing off the chinch bugs by Chancellor Snow's infection is successful in about the same per cent. as last year. Farmers are highly pleased with the workings. The new brood of eggs just coming in, it is expected, will do some damage to new wheat, but efforts will be made to prevent serious results.

Hurt at a Queer Time.

NORTHFIELD, Minn., Aug. 13.—Burt Rivier and Charles Lemont, young men living at Dundee, three miles from here, are both in love with Miss Lonkey, of their town. They made an agreement to settle the matter by a fight in the presence of the young woman. Miss Lonkey was watching the encounter from a buggy when the horse took fright and ran away, throwing her out. It is thought she is fatally hurt.

Two Negro Murderers Hanged.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 13.—Henry McGhee, colored, aged 27, was hanged here this morning for the murder of Officer George Fenn while resisting arrest on the night of March 14, 1891. He neither admitted nor denied his guilt.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 13.—James Dodson, colored, who killed his mistress in St. Francis county in 1890, was hanged to-day at Devall's Bluffs. He protested his innocence to the last.

Pope Leo and the Fair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Pope Leo has written another letter concerning the World's fair. This time it pertains to the Catholic educational exhibit and is an earnest of the great interest which he has in the success of the fair, and particularly in the representation of the church and her educational methods during the progress of the great exposition.

The Old Timers are not In It

While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Paragoric and Laudanum, without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved.—O. G. BURFORD, Harris Creek, Amherst Co., Va. For sale by Aug. Fleischmann, druggist.

Cures Effectually.

The Miner Institute cures drunkenness and leaves no bad effects. Other institutes injure the eyes and health. The Miner leaves a man stronger than when he began the treatment. It has been tested and proven in Sedalia. Two men have been cured and half a dozen others are satisfied that a few days more will make full men of them. Call at the rooms 515 Ohio street.

Sicher's cafe is at present one of the coolest places in the city. Revolving fans almost bring back winter as you are served with lemonades and their famous ice creams.

Don't Forget

R. H. Harris when you want good feed of all kinds. Also the best qualities of coal and wood and a fresh supply of Anthracite coal just received. No. 218 Osage Street. Telephone 115.

Cheap Homes for Millions.

In order to meet the constantly growing demands which come from every quarter of the north, east and west, for reduced rates, to enable the farmer, the emigrant and the capitalist to visit the southwest, and particularly Texas, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway have determined to sell tickets on August 30th, September 27th and October 25th, from points in the north, east and west to all points in the state of Texas, at the extremely low rate of One Fare for the Round Trip, good to return 20 days from date of sale.

The reports which come from Texas of the prodigious prospective yields in the crops for the present season, as well as those for several previous years, together with the severity of the winters in the northern and western states for several years past, will induce many to locate on the sun-kissed prairies of this favored land during the coming fall. Now is your opportunity, grasp it while it is yet within your grasp.

HUGGED THE HANGED MAN.

An Extraordinary Scene at a Soldier's Reunion in Vernon County.

A dispatch from Nevada says the four days' reunion of the Vernon county soldiers at Fairhaven ended on the 12th.

It was a success from the start. On the last day fully 5,000 people were on the grounds. The following officers were elected: George M. Jones, (re-elected) commander; A. J. Jarvis, (re-elected) vice-president; G. M. McLain, (re-elected) officer of the day; Ben Parker, quartermaster; John Ulch, treasurer; J. H. Loyd, adjutant; Luther McLain, drum major; Fred Foster, fife major. The sham battle was fought on the last day with over 200 men participating. It was witnessed by fully 5,000 people.

In the afternoon a big showman who had his show at Shell City, drove out his circus band and asked permission to come into the grounds. It was accorded him, and after favoring the crowd with some music, he took the speaker's stand and made a fine speech. He said he was an ex-Union spy, and among other incidents of his perilous career as such he told about having been captured by the enemy eight miles below Richmond. He was hanged by them, but, fortunately, a Confederate Major came up and ordered him to be cut down. He still bears the scars of the wounds made by the rope and exhibited them to the crowd. He stated that the Confederate Major, whose name was Crittenden, was accompanied by a private, who cut the rope at the Major's orders, and that this private took charge of him and had him in a swamp, where he lived on frogs till he got back into the Union lines.

He had no sooner made this statement than "Uncle Dick" Robinson sprang upon the stand and seized the speaker's hands. It transpired that Uncle Dick was the man who had cut the rope, and the way those two men fell upon each other's necks and hugged each other brought tears to every eye that witnessed the scene. Of course that showman and Uncle Dick were the heroes of the hour.

An organization of the Grand Army posts of Vernon, St. Clair and Bates counties was effected. It is expected that the posts of all the counties in the Fifteenth congressional district will be added.

During the encampment the Hon. Chas. H. Morgan, of Barton county, democratic candidate for congress in the Fifteenth district, delivered an address to the old soldiers, which was warmly received.

Out of His Sight.

He was cantankerous that morning, and taking it out on his pretty typewriter.

"Everything is in confusion on this desk," he said, testily.

"It always is," she responded meekly. "You insist you don't want anything disturbed there."

"Well, I don't want any papers disturbed, but I don't want this sheet of postage stamps left here."

"Where shall I put them?" she inquired demurely, as she took them up.

"Don't ask so many questions!" he snapped. "Put them anywhere out of my sight."

"Very well, sir," she cooed as softly as a dove; and giving them a swipe, fore and aft, with her pretty red tongue, she struck the sheet on his bald head, and walked out to chase a new job.

Police Court.

J. H. Mahatan, J. Lakenan, Arthur Douglass, B. Menail and L. J. Street were fined $6 each for late hours.

John Harris, Wesley Perry and Will Marshall attempted to beat the face off of special Policeman J. M. Castle last night at the merry-go-round, corner of Third and Washington. Harris hit Castle several times with a cane, but bystanders interfered and the gang was marched off to the calaboose, Officer Castle superintending the job. Harris and Perry were fined $20 each for their fun and Marshall paid $10.

Leave Next Week.

Miss Emma Lyons will leave next week on an extended visit through the east and the points of interest in Canada. Miss Lyons will leave friends here who wish her a pleasant trip and a speedy return.

OBSERVATIONS.

BY PETRUCHIO.

MY PRAYER.

My prayer! oh, that I knew to pray
In spirit as becomes a child of God;
A child who, in wayward form of life,
Grieves the goodness of a God all good.
Humble, stricken by my many sins,
Unworthy of so much of love,
With pain and sorrow in my heart, I come
With bended head, and sad, repentant mien;
I come and ask Him that He may renew
Within my soul that strong desire to serve
Him.I pray that I may have a cleansed heart,
A new resolve, a purer longing for the good;
I pray that something in my life may show
That glory of my blessed Master's cause.
I pray that I may be by His good will
The instrument of working some small good below.

Aristocracy.

Occasionally I meet a man of education, refinement and culture, who has attained station and wealth, and who does not hesitate to speak of the days of early poverty and the attendant conditions of rustic simplicity and modest belongings. These men do not confound opulence with aristocracy, wealth with blue blood, power with nobility of character.

I believe in aristocracy, but not in the aristocracy of dollars. I despise snobs, but I do believe Dickens never wrote a clearer truth than when he painted American snobbery as the most abject, mean and inconsistent to be found upon the face of the earth. I can't say I have a contempt for an honest toad-eater who is a toad-eater for the love of toad-eating, and who pretends to be nothing more than a toad-eater. But for an American who boasts of his independence and his virtue, his freedom and his intelligence, to bow down to the golden calf gives me a pain—no, not a pain, but a nausea—which unfits me for the ordinary duties of life.

But to return to the aristocracy.

There is a gentle, unostentatious simplicity about the real aristocrat that heralds the noble, whatever station it may be found in. The mean, spurious counterfeit betrays himself by his very jealousy of the position he essays to occupy. He is in constant mortal terror lest some one will suspect he is no aristocrat, but an impostor. The inferior is constantly reminded of the gulf between their stations, lest it will not otherwise be seen. Indignities are heaped upon the dependant, lest otherwise said dependant might not recognize superior station. Oh, what a sham is the name of aristocracy! what a travesty upon real nobility.

Does the menial who knows not by my action that I am out of his station feel less respect for me? Will sitting at table with a mental, moral or spiritual inferior give me less respect than it would with a physical inferior? Will kindness and consideration demean me in the eyes of any one, great or humble? Surely not, and I can but doubt the purity of blood which fears to trust itself without an assumption manifested by material show of authority, power, superiority.

Yes, I love an aristocrat—an honest, simple, loving, considerate aristocrat, who proves genuineness of the stamp by never betraying the least consciousness that being an aristocrat is a responsibility that requires constant guard and watch.

The blooded horse proves not its pedigree by biting and kicking its kind, but by superior pace, carriage and style. And a blooded man is much the same, and his pace will show his breeding, whether 'tis displayed in the quiet paths of rural surroundings or on kite tracks and thoroughfares hedged in by gold and cold formalities, where all the world flocks to watch the equipages of the great.
